

Dear Dr. VijayVishvanathan,

I just wanted to express my thanks and appreciation for the wonderful treatment and care you all showed to me following my recent Blood sugar problems.

Before I came into hospital for the checkups', I was very nervous and daunted by the fear of the unknown but you were all so kind and reassuring when I arrived this took away a lot of my apprehension.

You demonstrated your total commitment into caring for me when I was nerves in the days immediately following my admission into the hospital and also gave me the support and encouragement I needed to take my first steps on the road to my rehabilitation which meant so much to me.

I'd like to particularly thank Dr Amerta Gosh and Dr.Ramathilagam who provided me with round the clock medical care and your nursing team for their expertise in the care and concern with their fullest dedication . These were members of the team whom I saw on a daily basis and whom I became particularly close to during my stay in the hospital. However, I'd also like to thank all the other people, too numerous to mention, who all played such an important part in my treatment and speedy recovery.

Thanks to you all, I'm now able to look forward to a long-held dream to be able to go ahead with my new business ventures in abroad that must be concentrated immediately. Without your help, this would not have been possible so you can imagine how grateful I am.

Thank you all once again for all your care and support.
